

SPECIAL TROOPS, BERLIN BRIGADE

Special Troops, Berlin Brigade was organized in July 1945 as the 7780 Composite Service Battalion. The unit name was changed to Headquarters and Service Battalion, 7781st Army Unit, and later to Special Troops, United States Army Garrison. On 1 December 1961 it was changed to the present designation:

Special Troops, Berlin Brigade.

The Special Troops mission is to provide personnel, administrative and logistical support to Berlin Brigade.

The following units are assigned to Special Troops, Berlin Brigade:

- Headquarters & Headquarters Company
- Service Company
- 592d Signal Company
- 42d Engineer Company
- Company "F", 40th Armor
- 298th Army Band
- 287th Military Police Company (Sep)
- Helmstedt Support Detachment